Just as the actual stage performances of the greatest artists stand out from those of less talented artists, so the Victor Records by these artists excel in the world of recorded music. There is a change of program offered on Victor Records every week, but the same high quality is always maintained and is evident in every number on the list. None but Victor Records provide such music and entertainment. No other instrument plays them in the same finished manner as the Victrola, and there are twenty-one models, from $25 up.

What Time Brings

Ten years ago, if anyone had suggested a meeting of a chamber of commerce that was the duty of the organization to urge an qualified electors of the community to bte in a primary election, an incipient riot would perhaps have been created, and the proponent of the idea would in all probability gave been chucked out of the meeting, as a Yor political demagogue and a dangerous cit-Lous Withal.

tors But times have changed. We now witss chambers of commerce and similar civic tatificanizations in all the larger centers of Tigingulation, taking a decided stand on the mestion of importuning citizens to exercise their rights as such, and as partisans. These rganizations are also striking at the indifgerence of voters, pointing out the danger that lies just ahead as a result of "every-*hody's business being nobody's business' , In this respect, the Columbus chamber d commerce appears to be the pioneer in the movement. That organization has cre-##ed a comittee to consider and give effect to methods for stimulating interest and devel--oping maximum participation of the voters in the August 12 primary. There is nothing wrong about this sort of thing. It is commendable, if anything. Year after year we see the results of nominations being made by a very small minority of the voters. It might be carried farther, applying also to elections.

If the people of the state go to the polls and vote there need be no danger of unfavtrable election results. Those who do not wote should not object to what occurs. It 🕻 seldom you hear a citizen kick about results if he has exercised his right to vote. He has the realization of having discharged as duty, and if he is a believer in majority rite, as all good citizens should be, he abides by the decision of the majority without fault finding.

0 0 0 1/-Cost Of Crime

- It is astounding that Ohioans have permitted themselves to get into the position of allewing crime to cost this state millions of dollars a year, with little or no effort being made to cut down the stupendous figures.

These facts are brought out by William M. Smith, superintendent of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation matters stand, taxpayers are the losers thru the maintenance of police protection penal institutions, and thru theft by those who escape incarceration.

It is estimated that during the past year, aded June 30, the state has been saved $250,000 by the establishment of the bureau d identification, which identifies criminals the request of police departments over the state, and bringing about the apprehension of escaped convicts and parole violators from prisons of other states.

Usually, when criminals are confronted with their past records, as maintained in the wate bureau, they plead guilty, saving the counties wherein they are arrested the cost iry trials. Crime grows despite all efforts to curtail it, consequently any system that will make for providing a short cut to Mentification, apprehension and conviction criminals is perhaps worth all it costs. By the finger print system, photos and general descriptions, the state bureau has on file the records of 250,000 malefactors. A large number of these are prisoners in the Ohio penitentiary, which has more inmates than in Sing Sing and Auburn, New York penitentiaries; more than there are in both Illinois state prisons, and more than the combined totals of the penitentiaries of four far western states.

While the bureau of criminal identification costs little, Smith produces figures to show that it is one of the biggest savers afforded in Ohio in cutting down the cost

The Speculator

Cutten, who is understood to have made couple of millions spectacularly playing the grain market, tells a reporter: "SPEC-TLATION IS, I THINK, THE VERY HIGH-EST FORM OF INTELLECTUAL EN-DEAVOR IN BUSINESS. The man who hopes to be successful must keep himself informed concerning every phase of the commodity he is interested in."

It is true that the big speculator has to do more than sit in a broker's office and watch figures on a blackboard. It is true that he must be a constant and alert student of economics.

But the fact remains that, if he keeps on playing the market will GET him-despite any knowledge of market conditions, weather and other factors that sway the price of the commodity he is betting on or against.

Given fundamental and accurate knowledge of his subject, he is less apt to lose than the man who bets blindly-PERHAPS! The man who bets blindly has the Law of Chance (luck) on his side. This very often is a better ally than knowledge of economics. | tons. | Sometimes pimples begin

Public utilities derive their revenue from one source only-money paid by patrons for service rendered. There is no other means of meeting expenses. When income does not meet expense there is the inevitable end-receivership and subsequent curtailment of service.

Realizing this, the modern utility keeps its expenses at the lowest possible point. It must figure closely in order that it may keep within the bounds of good business. There is no haphazard running of a public utility today. There are two reasons. First, the public's financial welfare is at stake and a wise utility guards that as jealously as it does its own purse. Second, the financial resources of stockholders are at stake.

In days gone by one of the big items of expense was litigation. Law suits, and controversies involving public utilities became a great American sport. But that day has passed, generally speaking. The public came to realize that it was simply piling up expense for itself. The people became less free with law suits and adopted more businesslike methods of going about things.

The people have learned that public utilities are essential; that they are human; that they exist for the people who depend on them just as utilities depend upon the public. It is the same proposition today as you and your grocer and your butcher or your tailor.

But the greatest thing that has come out of the more modern methods is a closer understanding, a general willingness on the part of both parties concerned toward open dealing, fair prices and fair treatment. And both have profited immensely thereby.

The Lima Telephone & Telegraph Company is proud of the confidence it has built up in Lima, its home and the home of those who own it. It has not been without the closest vigilance since its organization in the matter of protecting its patrons and the confidence thus built up has made possible a charge for service far below the average of Ohio, altho the service rendered is not surpassed anywhere in the world.

Knowing the history of YOUR telephone company and the calibre of the men who have made this wonderful institution possible, can you expect aught but a square deal in the future?

firestone Mile Average 14 Trucks Over 5 Year Period*

W T. Bancroft, president of the Ship-by-Truck Company, Kansas City, Mo., says,

"We operate over a radius of 75 to 100 miles, often overload, cover all kinds of roads in all weather, and have to have truck tires that not only will be dependable and cushion our trucks, but that will give maximum traction and maximum mileage," says Mr. Bancroft.

"We have been using Firestone Hi-Type Truck tires for five years because they cost us less per mile of operation. In five years, these tires have averaged 23,672 milesone recently has gone 38,945 miles, and another 37,301. Naturally we have standardized on Firestones."

Firestone service station dealers are tire specialists and will welcome an opportunity to show you how the Firestone Non-Skid Hi-Type is constructed, and why it is winning friends in every type of service.
